EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

 An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Chen on 6/4/08.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claims 2, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 12 have not been amended.

Claims 1, 3, 4, 5, 7, 11 have been amended.

- 1. (currently amended) A silicon nitride mould crucible for use in connection with directional solidification and pulling of silicon single crystals, where the crucible eensisting consists of Si₃N₄ particles made by nitriding compacted particulate silicon, wherein the crucible has pores, a total open porosity between 40 and 60% by volume, and more than 50% of the pores in a surface of the crucible has a size which is larger than the means size of the Si₃N₄ particles.
- (previously presented) The crucible according to claim 1, wherein the crucible is coated with silicon nitride particles having an average particle size of less then 50 µm.

Art Unit: 1793

3. (currently amended) Method A method for the production of a silicon nitride mould crucible parts, particularly crucibles for use in connection with directional solidification and pulling of silicon single crystals, comprising the steps of:

where forming particulate silicon having a particle size of less than 100 μm is formed to into a mould crucible parts and subjected subjecting said formed crucible to nitridation for conversion of the silicon particles to Si₃N₄, characterized in that wherein the forming step is carried out under such a pressure and with such a particle size distribution of the silicon particles that the finished silicon nitride mould crucible parts has an open porosity between 40 and 60% by volume and where more than 50% of the pores in the surface of the finished mould part are greater than the mean size of the Si₃N₄ particles.

- 4. (currently amended) Method The method according to claim 3, eharacterized in that wherein the shaping forming of the mould parts crucible from the silicon particles is carried out at a pressure of below 200 Mpa.
- (currently amended) Method The method according to claim 3, characterized in that wherein the shaping forming of the mould parts crucible is are carried out using vibration.

Art Unit: 1793

(previously presented) A method of directional solidification and pulling of silicon single crystals, comprising:

filling a crucible with particulate silicon, wherein, the crucible consists of Si_3N_4 particles made by nitriding compacted particulate silicon, the crucible has pores, a total open porosity between 40 and 60% by volume, and more than 50% of the pores in a surface of the crucible has a size which is larger than the means size of the Si_3N_4 particles;

melting the silicon in the crucible in a furnace to form molten silicon in the crucible: and cooling the molten silicon in the crucible.

- (currently amended) The method of claim 6, further comprising:
 coating an inside wall surface of the crucible with a silicon nitride particles having an average particle size of less then 50 um.
- 8. (previously presented) The method of claim 6, wherein the melting is conducted in a furnace at a temperature of 1500°C and argon gas is supplied to the furnace.
- 9. (previously presented) The method of claim 6, wherein the cooling is conducted initially by lowering the temperature at 60°C per hour until a temperature of 1375°C is reached and then cooling to room temperature.

Art Unit: 1793

10. (previously presented) The crucible of claim 1, wherein the crucible is made from silicon particles having a particle size less than 100 µm.

- 11. (currently amended) The crucible of claim 10, wherein the crucible is made by compacting silicon particles at a pressure below 200 Mpa MPa prior to nitrating nitriding.
- (previously presented) The crucible of claim 11, wherein the compacting is conducted by vibration.

Art Unit: 1793

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claim 1, the product, and thus all dependent claims and method of making and using, overcomes the prior art. The prior art does not teach or suggest a porous crucible with more than 50% of the pores in the surface having a size larger than the average size of the particles of which the crucible is made of. The prior art which most closely teaches this structure, Miyakawa, et al. (EP 1,160,223) and Takeuchi, et al. (US 65,618,765), only disclose a filter made of the porous material, and makes no suggestion or indication that it can be used as a crucible or receptacle as they serve near opposite functions. The showings of Example 1 of the instant specification which show that silicon ingots were affixed to area on the walls of low porosity and small pore size further indicate the criticality of the pore size on the surface and thus the manufacture and use of the product of the application. (page 4, lines 6-10)

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to DIANA J. LIAO whose telephone number is (571)270-3592. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday 8:00am to 5:30pm EST.
